Invesco

Biography

Scott Wolle, CFA®

Head of Systematic and Factor Investing
Chief Investment Officer, Invesco Global Asset Allocation
Portfolio Manager

Scott Wolle, CFA®

Scott Wolle is Head of Systematic and Factor Investing as well as Chief Investment Officer (CIO) and Portfolio Manager for the Invesco Global Asset Allocation team, which invests in stock, bond, and commodity markets worldwide. In his role as Head of Systematic and Factor Investing, Mr. Wolle has responsibility for factor-based equities, fixed income, and commodities, as well as systematic multi-asset portfolios. He also plays a central role in creating alignment across all the teams at the firm who offer factor-based strategies. As CIO and Portfolio Manager for Global Asset Allocation, Mr. Wolle has responsibility for the strategies managed by the team, including risk parity, global macro, multi-asset income, and commodity strategies.

Mr. Wolle joined Invesco in 1999 as an analyst and portfolio manager and became a member of the Global Asset Allocation team in 2001. He assumed his role as CIO in 2005 and Head of Systematic and Factor Investing in 2019. He has been featured in Barron's and quoted in multiple publications, including the Financial Times and The Wall Street Journal. Mr. Wolle began his investment management career in 1991 with Bank of America.

Mr. Wolle earned a BS degree, magna cum laude, in finance from Virginia Tech and an MBA from the Fuqua School of Business at Duke University, with the distinction of Fuqua Scholar. He is a Chartered Financial Analyst® (CFA) charterholder.

invesco.com/us WOLLE-BIO-1-E 02/20 NA20-2337